> This animated short film taps into the deep pain of the pandemic, experienced by millions of people all over the world. With no going back to the way it was before, it invites its audience to dream up new stories to help guide our way forward as a species. Tackling COVID-19 has shown us that we can act collectively to protect each other and it is possible to create a better future. It has shown us that we are capable of the kind of action needed to flatten the other curves but to do so requires bold vision and investing in an equitable future. (Source: YouTube)

This short film was written by Elin Kelsey, who was a Rachel Carson Center fellow in 2013 and 2014. Elin is also the author of our virtual exhibition, Beyond Doom and Gloom: An Exploration through Letters .
