Multimedia Library Collection: Environmental Film Profiles (videos)

To Make a Farm

Suderman, Steve. To Make a Farm. Winnipeg: Orangeville Road Pictures Ltd., 2011. HD, 74 min. https://youtu.be/dJR3cuWfJvQ.

> Starting a farm from scratch takes more than just imagination, but it's a good place to start. Often considered a way of life from the past, today there is a movement of young people without farming backgrounds taking up this challenging profession. To Make A Farm follows the lives of five such young people through their first seasons on the land, as the joys and disappointments of bringing life from the earth become a quiet manifesto for social change. Documentary filmmaker Steve Suderman searches his own family history in farming to wonder if the mistakes of the past can be avoided this time. (Source: Doc Studio)

© 2011 Orangeville Road Pictures Ltd. Trailer used with permission.

This film is available at the Rachel Carson Center Library (RCC, 4th floor, Leopoldstrasse 11a, 80802 Munich) for on-site viewing only. For more information, please contact library@rcc.lmu.de.

About the Environmental Film Profiles collection

Further readings:

- Van der Ploeg, Jan Douwe. "We Should All Have the Right to Link Ourselves More Directly to the Land." In: "Think Global, Eat Local: Exploring Foodways," edited by Michel Pimbert, Rachel Shindelar, and Hanna Schösler. RCC Perspectives 1 (2015): 29–36.

Related links:

- Official Film Website
  http://tomakeafarm.ca/
- Starting a Farm
  http://www.beginningfarmers.org/planning-a-new-farm/

Websites linked in this text:

- http://docstudio.tvo.org/story/make-farm
- http://www.carsoncenter.uni-muenchen.de/index.html
- https://www.environmentandsociety.org/multimedia/collection/environmental-films-project