In this issue, Craig Rosebraugh gives an update on the Earth Liberation Front's (ELF) fight against genetic engineering on Long Island, and Michael Robinson discusses the reintroduction of Mexican wolves.

> With the move comes lots of discussion of where EF! is headed. (Actually it seems to be a question pondered often, creating many heated debates.) Some believe in a wilderness only approach, more like EF!'s former years. Others envision strengthening the movement by diversifying into other struggles rooted in the same problem. [...] Maybe we have evolved beyond the original vision. EF! is only a name anyway. Let's get over it.
