Male violence, which upholds male supremacy, is at the foundation of this civilization. While many people realize that this global, corporate, imperialist, death culture needs to be stopped, we aren't examining the fundamental relationship between civilization and male supremacy. I believe what is happening to the planet, and all of our lives, would not exist without a culture that condones male violence. Feminists have long drawn the connections between male supremacy, war, genocide and the assault on the planet.
