Environment & Society Portal

Multimedia Library Collection: Periodicals

"Negotiating Botanical Collections: Dr Johann Preiss in Germany and Western Australia"

Haebich, Anna

Haebich, Anna. "Negotiating Botanical Collections: Dr Johann Preiss in Germany and Western Australia." In "The European Exchange," edited by Ashley Hay and Natasha Cica. The Griffith Review 69 (2020): 101–108.

It is not widely known that many Australian colonial natural history collections are represented in German museums and herbaria, nor that there are initiatives to transform these artefacts of colonial heritage and science back into objects from living cultures with living custodians and their own stories to tell. Dr Johann August Ludwig Preiss (1811–1883) played a significant role in this evolving story as the first professional botanist to collect systematically in the Colony of Western Australia from 1838 to 1842.

© 2020 Anna Haebich and Griffith University

Download:
Download article https://www.environmentandsociety.org/sites/default/files/key_docs/gr69_haebich_copy.pdf

Related links:

- "A German Botanists Passion for Australia's Natural History," interview with Anna Haebich https://www.abc.net.au/radionational/programs/latenightlive/german-botanist-in-wa/12761494
- Ludwig Leichhardt: A German Explorer's Letters Home from Australia (virtual exhibition) https://doi.org/10.5282/rcc/6348
- "Recollecting the 'prodotti vegetali' of the Natural History Museum, University of Florence." Arcadia, 2020. http://www.environmentandsociety.org/arcadia/recollecting-prodotti-vegetali-natural-history-museum-university-florence

Periodicals Collection, Multimedia Library, Environment & Society Portal
"Negotiating Botanical Collections: Dr Johann Preiss in Germany and Western Australia"
Source URL: http://www.environmentandsociety.org/node/9137
Print date: 30 October 2026 14:50:15

- Griffith Review
  https://www.griffithreview.com/articles/negotiating-botanical-collections/

Periodicals Collection, Multimedia Library, Environment & Society Portal
"Negotiating Botanical Collections: Dr Johann Preiss in Germany and Western Australia"
Source URL: http://www.environmentandsociety.org/node/9137
Print date: 30 October 2026 14:50:15